Ashokan Commission No. 5 Makes Awards in 58 Cases

Aggregating $38,175.52, or 5½ Per Cent of Amount Asked in Over 100 Claims Presented—38 Claims Dismissed by the Commission.

Ashokan Damage Commission No. 5, composed of William H. Murray, Chairman, and ex-Democratic County Judge Joseph J. McGrath of Phoenix, who were appointed several years ago by Judge Howard for the trial of indirect damage and business claims in Ulster county, and afterwards re-appointed, on Tuesday filed a report in the county clerk's office covering more than one hundred claims which had come before them.

Awards were made in fifty-eight cases for a total of $38,175.52 damages, $1,343.45 counsel fees and $2,028.07 expenses, the report carrying recommendations for payment of an aggregate of $38,175.52.

The total amount of the awards to property owners and others whose claims were decided by the commission is about five and one-half per cent of the amount claimed, which totalled $161,838.39. The commission dismissed thirty-eight claims, and in one case the claim was withdrawn. In a number of cases several claims were filed by the same individual who made a claim for separate amounts for each of the several elements of damage for which he expected to receive an award, as for instance, a claim for business which had been conducted on property acquired by the city of New York for reservoir purposes or nearby, and another claim for indirect damage which the owner believed had been sustained by property not taken by the city. In some cases the commission made an award for one element of damage but dismissed the claim for other elements, and in some cases dismissed all claims.

The names of the claimants, amount claimed and the elements of the claim, together with the awards and recommendations for counsel fees and expenses or dismissals of cases which are included in the report are as follows:

Bertha S. Miller, for damage to real estate; claim $5,000 for 73 acre farm in Marlborough; award $259 damages, $12.95 counsel fee, $26 expenses. Judge Jenkins, attorney.

SUNDAY BASEBALL ORDINANCE ADOPTED

Common Council by Vote of 10 to 2 Approves

Measure—Ordinance Permits Unrestricted Playing of Game Anywhere in City—Offered by Alderman Cashman.

Alderman Cashman of the Third ward offered an ordinance permitting the unrestricted playing of Sunday baseball in Kingston at the regular monthly session of the common council Tuesday evening, and it was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2, with one alderman excused from voting. A motion made by Alderman Van Wageningen of the First ward to lay the ordinance over until later to give the public a chance to be heard was voted down by the same vote.

The ordinance will now be submitted to Mayor Crane for his approval or disapproval. Even if the mayor vetoes the ordinance the Sunday baseball aldermen have more than the required majority in the council to override the veto and sustain the ordinance.

The ordinance, which had been prepared by a baseball fan and turned over to the alderman from the Third ward to offer at the session was very brief and permits the playing of both professional and amateur baseball Sunday afternoons after 2 o'clock. There are no restrictions in the ordinance regulating where the game shall be played and churches and hospitals are not immune from having games staged in the immediate vicinity on Sundays during the baseball season.

The Sunday baseball issue has been raised for the past few years, but this is the first common council that has approved of it. Last year when the Sunday baseball adherents were turned down by the aldermen they decided to work in a different way and when it was time to select candidates for alderman the baseball followers made it a point to pick only those who they believed would vote for Sunday baseball. As a result the only aldermen to vote against Sunday baseball Tuesday evening were Alderman Van Wageningen of the First ward and Alderman Behrens of the Eleventh ward.

Alderman Buchholz of the Tenth ward was excused from voting.

Alderman Martin of the Twelfth ward, who in the past voted against Sunday baseball, switched his vote that night and voted in favor of the adoption of the ordinance.

Those who favored Sunday baseball were:

Alderman Reichert of the Second ward; Cashman of the Third; Williams of the Fourth; Keating of the Fifth; Joy of the Sixth; Mann of the Seventh; Kullmann of the Eighth; Macholdt of the Ninth; Martin of the Twelfth; and Ryan of the Thirteenth.

The council chamber was filled to overflowing and many stood waiting in the corridor Tuesday evening, practically all who attended were baseball fans drawn to the scene by the story in the Freeman of last Thursday evening in which it was stated that Sunday baseball would come up at the session and giving the vote in favor of its adoption.

Other matters taken up at the session will be found elsewhere.

The Training School Committee report was given by Dr. Day as follows:

To the Board of Directors and Staff of the Benedictine Hospital.

The training school has come through a long period of depression; and now that registration is restored it is looking forward to a much more useful and enlarged existence in the future. The loss of registration was due to inadequate equipment.

Through the interest and kindness of the archbishop of the diocese and the many loyal friends in Kingston and vicinity, a new and commodious nurses' home, costing over forty thousand dollars, has been built and furnished.

The affiliation with some large hospital in which to supplement the training here is decided upon, but the special hospital not yet selected.

The work in our own hospital is rearranging itself along better and more diversified lines. The X-ray department is being appreciated more and more as is shown by the greater number of patients availing themselves of its use. In 1920, there were 66 patients X-rayed and in 1921, 192. The nurses have opportunities to get some idea of the value of the X-ray to the patient as well as the diagnostic value to the physician.

During the past four months radium has been secured and many patients have already received great benefit from its use. Forty-eight treatments have already been given in this short time. This also adds to the interest and knowledge which the nurses receive in the Benedictine nurses' course. Our nurses have just received the benefit of a thorough scientific and practical course in dietetics under Miss May Davis, teacher of the same in the high school.

The past year has brought to us as directress of nurses, Sister Stella, who was one of our own graduates an R. N., who had seen some experience in managing her own private hospital before entering the sisterhood. After entering, Mother Regina sent her to a large hospital for post graduate instruction before placing her in charge of the training school here.

As assistants to her, we have Miss Bertha Straub, a graduate of St. Peter's in Albany, as night supervisor, and Miss May Abbott as day assistant. Miss Abbott is a graduate of All Souls' Hospital of Morristown, N. J. She saw war service a year in Camp Humphreys, Va., and three months at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.

The training of the sisters as heads of departments has begun and is a most forward step in the development of this institution. The senior class has one sister and one lay nurse, the intermediate class has one sister and two lay nurses, and the junior has one sister and four lay nurses, making ten in all.

The great crowding of the hospital the past year makes it imperative that it should be enlarged, and plans are under way and soon to be executed, which will go far toward making the Benedictine a model hospital. With this enlargement of the building will come the demand for more nurses. It would meet a great need if ten young women of sound health and one year of high school would apply at once for entrance to the training school, for classes start in the middle as well as the beginning of the year. There is no more inviting occupation for a young woman than a residence in the beautiful nurses' home and work in the hospital, under the direction of the sisters and in their atmosphere of consecrated service, which calls out all the best qualities of the individual. Combined with this good instruction by the staff and directress of nurses, calculated not only to give knowledge as to care for others, but also how to maintain their own health. Three years of such living and work and a diploma and R. N. may be secured. After receiving these any young woman is equipped for a happy and useful life. Respectfully submitted, MARY GAGE-DAY, M. D., Chairman Training School Committee Benedictine Hospital.

The staff was appointed as follows: Chief of Staff—Mark O'Meara, M. D.

Attending Surgeons—Mark O'Meara, M. D., William J. O'Leary, M. D., Frank L. Eastman, M. D., John J. O'Leary, M. D., John F. Larkin, M. D., George F. Willow, M. D.

Father Hickey reported registration was granted by the Board of Regents January 26th and we feel now that everything will work smoothly and the Benedictine Hospital will be able to develop in a manner satisfactory to all.

The Building Committee reports: That the nurses home is completed and equipped with all the most up to date fittings. There is still needed $250 to complete payment for building and $400 for grading.

There is also a new home for the sisters being built, and this will be ready for use March 17th. This building is of concrete and will furnish room for 18 sisters.

As soon as weather permits we will erect another large addition to the main hospital that will give us an additional 35 to 40 beds, a new maternity and children's ward, elevator, emergency room, laundry and labor-atories.

The staff of the Benedictine Hospital realizing the shortage of trained nurses, the dangers to our community in epidemics, the wisdom of preventive medicine to protect and conserve public health, have established a class at the high school, free to any who may wish to come, for a course of lectures on public health and home nursing.

Monday evening there was a class of 246 that enrolled, which shows the enthusiasm this movement has started with.

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. the second lecture will be given and then every Monday and Wednesday night until finished.

WINTER MANTLES IN GAY FABRICS

Gorgeous Seasonable Wraps Now
Demand All Attention
From Women.

SLIM, STRAIGHT COATS, CAPES

Evening Outer Garments Have Sleeves
Set Into Wide Armholes, Flaring
Chinese Fashion—Fringe in Linenlight.

It is true, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune, that those who refuse to observe the seasons in attire, and are always looking far into the distance, scanning the horizon for a new season's styles, already are scouting for models showing the tendencies of spring.

Fortunately the numbers of excessives in dress who insist upon forcing the season are diminishing, and women in general are dressing more in accordance with the thermometer. Any news of spring fashions at the present time cannot be other than intimations, many of which may prove false.

Now is the time for sumptuous clothes. There is no other season so well suited to them. In mid-summer clothes are beautiful but simple, as befits that time of year. Gorgous-ness in dress appears in the winter.

Interesting things have been done for evening coats. No longer are they voluminous wraps of costly fabrics,
but, rather, handsome coats and capes showing great variety in style, material and trimming.

Colors and Fabrics
Much less material is used in this winter's evening coats than in those of past years. Slim, straight coats and straight-hanging capes are of velvet, rich brocade, metal tissue, or fur, those of fur being surprisingly light in weight. Models of this sort have sleeves of interesting cut, set into wide armholes and flaring in Chinese fashion.

These are draped and wrappy evening coats, less full than those used heretofore. Many capes are worn.
These hang in straight lines and are topped by handsome collars of fur or velvet. A surprising number of velvet collars, often in contrasting color, are used; for instance, a black velvet cape may have a huge ruff of bright pink velvet peonies.

Always a medium for exploiting beautiful colors as well as fabrics, the evening wrap now excels itself in this respect. Velvet wraps in startling hues such as geranium reds and cyclamen purple pleasingly with soft grays.
Brocade velvets and cloths, glistening with gold and silver are used.

The Parisian dressmaker has a crave for sheer metal fabrics and ever so many French evening wraps are of velvet striped with silver tissue. Frequently they are made entirely of gold tissue or of a mingling of metal tissue and a handsomely brocade velvet.
A model noted recently was a black velvet striped with steel and trimmed with black fox.

Fringes Arranged to Simulate Capelet.
The fuchsia colorings have not met with the success that was prophesied for them, or which one might have expected considering the wonderful showing of fuchsia shades by the great French dressmakers in the autumn. American dressmakers also exploited wraps, dresses and hats in all the violets, blues and pinks of the fuchsia blossom, but the American woman did not show much enthusiasm over these shades except to admire them in an impersonal way. Perhaps their too frequent appearance kept women from buying clothes in any of these hues, for nobody wants to im-vest in an expensive garment in a shade which will quickly become common and which definitely dates itself.

Salient features of the newest evening wraps are straight lines, ornate metallic sleeves, puff collars and waist-length capelets. Sometimes the effect of a capelet is produced by a band of embroidery or fur, or by fringe hanging from the neckline to the hips, where it is caught up in blousing effect. Interesting models are made with the capelet and lower portion or skirt of the coat of fur and the sleeves and the waist portion of velvet.

Kermine Trims Gray Velvet Costume.
Among the furs, sable, ermine, fox and various gray furs are used, the latter being featured on gray velvet wraps. Coat also is much in evidence. Although used on the evening models of velvet—imported models of black velvet being lavishly trimmed with white goat skin—it is better suited for daytime wear.

A costume worked out in gray and white consists of a straight, full cape of gray velvet and a gray velvet frock.
The cape is attached to a deep ermine band, which forms the collar.
The bottom is cut in deep points.
The frock is sleeveless and has a bustle neckline. Both neck and armholes are embroidered in steel beads.
From one side a low placed girde of steel hangs a full tunic, also cut in points. Placing a tunic on one's arm only is an unusual and good method of introducing variety into a plain chemise style.
Diadem Tissue With Shell Embroidery.

An evening wrap from Worth illustrating several of the new features is developed in a lovely cerise velvet with an embroidery of cerise and silver on the sleeves, which are bordered with silver gray fox. The collar is formed of velvet roses in all the lovely cherry shades.

An interesting model is of royal blue velvet, lined with silver cloth.
This mantle catches a silver cloth evening gown with a scarf train of blue chiffon. At a recent social event in Paris a toilette of this description was completed with a Lanyin Russian dia-dem toque of silver cloth embroidered in small shells, the greatest embroidery novelty of the season.

Martail et Armand are having great success in their cape wraps, light embrodered in high colors. One of these in blue velvet is collared with the new gray fur wistaria, a cross-bred animal of South America, the mother of which is chinchilla.

Wraps With Huge Petal Ruffs.
Wraps for young girls are made without trimming, but are much elaborated in the working of the fabric. A model of this sort which is a great

Model Developed From Blue and Gold Brocade. With Deep Band and Collar of Mink.

Parisian success and made by Charlotte, is developed in light colored velvet with intricate handwork on the shoulders to yoke depth. A very elaborate collar of the velvet cut in the shape of petals forms a huge ruff.

Models of the heavy, somewhat num-bersome sort of overwraps sometimes ending in long sleeves of the distinct Renaissance type are being worn in Paris, and copies have been sent to this country, but apparently they are too eccentric to make any great appeal. All such mantles have very elaborate fur trimmings, the fur being used in quantities.

A subtle blending of blue fox which is called renard fame, is used on many models of this sort. It is an excellent imitation of the natural blue fox, there being an underlay of blue gray fur like the skin of this somewhat rare animal. The tips of the long hairs are reddish brown.

Jet and Jewel Harnesses.
Among the things that add variety to the evening costume are headdresses with fans to match, and the fans made to correspond in color and fabric with evening dresses. The American woman shows that she does not absolutely follow the fashions set by Paris by not receiving with any degree of enthusiasm the lace fans in color to match gowns, which are so prominent in Paris. Rather have the women of this country chosen the old-fashioned ostrich feather fan—an unusual thing to do, considering the number of new and novel fans offered.

A set, consisting of headdress with fan to match, seen recently was effectively displayed by a dark-haired woman who wore a dress of brown lace made over a foundation of red silk.

More than sixty-five thousand girls disappeared last year. There is a vital reason. Anna Hedder has one. She threw the shackles of domesticity off her back and pluckily faced the world alone. The stirring incidents that follow are embodied in the screen version of the famous stage play, "Why Girls Leave Home," which comes to the Kingston Opera House, 3 days beginning Thursday. Let's go!

Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck, the executive secretary, then gave the following report of home service work as carried on by the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross for the months of December and January just past as follows:

For the month of December: Visits to families of ex-service men, 20; office calls of ex-service men, 26; telegram and telephone messages, 20; letters received and sent, 102; discharges copied, forms made out and affidavits made, 15; miscellaneous assistance given to 44 different families; financial relief to 19 different families; Christmas cheer to 10 convalescent men; Christmas cheer to 8 different families; amount expended for emergency needs of families, $162.25; amount expended for Christmas cheer, $64.60; $226.85; total services rendered, 229. For the month of January: Visits to families of ex-service men, 12; office calls of ex-service men, 32; telegram and telephone messages, 38; letters received and sent, 102; discharges copied, forms made out and affidavits made, 40; miscellaneous assistance given to 52 different families; financial relief to 11 different families; amount expended for ex-service men and families, $133.65; total number services rendered, 244. Old knitting machine was given to an invalid by sanction of vice chairman.

H. S. Section, with cooperation of Dr. Gates and Miss Brown succeeded in having an emergency case of T. B. (ex-service man) brought to T. B. Hospital here, where man was given care until he died a few days later. Along the lines of public health work it was noted that Miss Dunne, the Red Cross nurse, is continuing to do good service for the Red Cross in the shape of emergency or what is known as "bed-side" nursing; that is, she does not take cases requiring all of her attention for any length of time but until such time as other means of help can be secured. Those physicians needing Miss Dunne's services, either in Kingston or the county outside the city, should make application for her aid to the Red Cross office which will communicate with the home nursing committee. There seemed some doubts in the minds of those present as to the public understanding about making any contribution in recognition of the

A matter looking toward future activity and cooperation of the Red Cross was brought up for discussion but no definite outline of activity was decided upon.

HALL WOULD HELP RADIO AMATEURS

Boys Secretary at Y. M. C. A. Has Part of Things Needed For Wireless Club—Other News At Y. M. C. A.

C. H. Hall, boys' work secretary at the local Y. M. C. A., has formulated a plan by which all of the men and boys in the vicinity may learn wireless telegraphy, or if they are somewhat rusty on the subject, may brush up their knowledge of the art. Mr. Hall has quite a little equipment augmented by a knowledge of the subject to back his project and it is his desire that all who are interested in his offer will call at his office in the boys' department to converse with him on the development of a wireless club in the city.

The regular weekly meeting of the "H-Y" Club will be held this evening at the association banquet rooms at 6:15 and if any more high school fellows are desirous of adding their names to the already lengthy list of members they may secure pledge cards from Donald Whiston, the club's secretary.

There will be two games of snappy basketball played among the Student "A" boys on the gymnasium floor, beginning at 8 o'clock; the Antlers will play the Argos; the Argos will engage the Athletics.

No games of basketball have been scheduled this week in the Senior league, but two scrimmages will afford some excitement Thursday evening, February 16th.

Another Lamb Anecdote.

The following story, which appears in an old volume of "Leigh Hunt's Journal," throws an interesting light on Charles Lamb's beautiful relations with his stricken sister, Mary. L. and his sister were one evening supping at Mrs. M.—'s. L. (with another person) had made his way to the bottom of the second bottle of port. "You really shall not have any more, Charles," said his sister. "Pray, Mrs. M.—, don't give him any more." "You hear what your sister says, Mr. Lamb?" observed Mrs. M.—, pouring out the remains of the port (which was thick) into his glass. "She is a person of mean capacity," said he. "I never listen to her. Try the next bottle, madame; for this is thick, and—hospitality should run free to the last."

His Way.

"I felt kinda lost for a spell after I sold the old place and came down to live with my niece," admitted the retired farmer. "I missed the familiar tasks, and there weren't enough new ones to keep me busy. The familiar sounds, too, were absent and at first I couldn't get used to the new ones; the young lady on the left, tinkling the piano, the folks on the right running their talking machine, the feller across the street practicing his clarinet, and so forth. They bothered me. But some-by I took to going out on the back porch and fling a saw to quiet my nerves. And it always done so; after a good spell of fling the noises of the neighborhood didn't bother me at all."—Kansas City Star.

DENUDED TURKEY "CAME TO"

Chloroformed Bird, Minus Feathers, Very Much Alive When the Anesthetic Had Worn Off.

One of New Jersey's most conservative towns is consumed with mirth, and the objects of said mirth are a young, kind-hearted bride and bridegroom. The bridegroom, it appears, took a chance on a turkey that was being raffled off in his New York office and a few days later was notified that he had won the pompous bird. Highly delighted, he gave his address and ordered the prize sent out to his New Jersey home.

In the course of time the bird arrived at its destination, and arrived much to the surprise of the bride and bridegroom, in a wire crate very much alive, remarks the New York Sun. As their experience in executing birds was nil and the bride "couldn't bear to have its pretty head chopped off," they decided to chloroform it. Consequently, the next night, when the bridegroom got home from the office, the anesthetic was administered on a lovely lace handkerchief and then the bird was plucked and put into the ice box. About 10 o'clock that night the peace and quiet around the library lamp were disturbed by strange noises in the kitchen.

Bird in hand the newlyweds heavily descended upon the kitchen expecting to find the overcooked-for-banquet. But no brazier was to be seen. Looking the noise in the direction of the ice box the brave young bridegroom, swinging open the doors and on stepped a very naked turkey. After a few rounds of the kitchen with considerable flapping of wings he began picking up the crumbs on the floor. The bride and bridegroom looked at each other in horror and fled from the kitchen. An hour or so later the services of a neighbor were called upon and this time the turkey was anesthetized with an ax.

Khaki.

To India, by way of England, we owe the word "khaki." There was a sect of Brahmins—and it is still in existence—who applied the ashes of cow-dung to their clothes and persons. They were called "khaki" because of that coloration—or discoloration. The word was naturally applied to the earthy or clay color in the uniforms of soldiers or sepoys by the British government. Hence the protective light chocolate dye employed in British military uniforms.

Concerning Holland.

Holland is one of the few countries in the world that live up to the expectations of the traveler so far as roads are concerned, observes Kenneth L. Roberts in the Saturday Evening Post. The landscape is heavily sprinkled with windmills, canals and men and boys in overgrown blouses. Storks sit around carelessly on the house chimneys in very melancholy attitudes. Life in Dutch cities is greatly slowed up by the canals. The natives of Rotterdam, for example, spend eight hours a day in sleeping, two hours in working and the rest of the time in waiting to get over the bridges across the canals. Taxicabs are seldom out of work in Rotterdam, for once a person gets into one he spends the rest of the day in front of open canal bridges. Americans who are weary of hearing European dollar chatters will be interested to hear that Holland's coat of arms is said by residing Englishmen and Americans to represent two lions fighting over a globe.

Federal Women's Bureau.

The women's bureau of the Department of Labor is charged with the responsibility of developing policies and standards and conducting investigations in the industries of the country which shall safeguard the interests of the women workers and thus make their service effective for the national good. It represents and advises the secretary of labor in all matters concerning women in industry and is charged with maintaining close contact with other agencies which deal with special phases of the problem, including other divisions of the Department of Labor. It works with and through the state departments of labor.

Ugly Men the Best Woodcut.

Ugly men make the most successful woodcut because, forced to be afraid to overcome the natural beauty of the machine-hol type, they attain a charm of manner that leaves the beautiful man lengths behind. Dr. Bernard Hollander, London psychologist, said in a recent lecture. Women naturally distrust the pretty man, he argued, and think there can be no harm in the ugly one. Out to a flying start, the Cymon applies the oil, with happy or disastrous results, according to whether Cymon is honest or dishonest.—New York Sun.

Patented in Writing.

Nor are the exponents of the grand manner, of an ornate style, to be patterned after. If elevation of theme is not present, then the peril of "fine writing" is scarcely to be avoided. Better follow such writers as Bacon, Blayton, Holmes, Swift in preference to the Augustan group, Dryden, Addison, Shaftesbury, and Temple. But Doctor Johnson, Burke and Gibbon are out models for the beginner, say more than the ground prose of Boswell, the musical utterance of Chateaubriand, or the dramatic prose of Hugo are safe models for French students. The rich exaltation of Flaubert, the stilled cadence of Melville or the dry wit of Voltaire are safer guides. And the urbane ease and flowing rhythms of Thackeray are preferable to the hapless verbal babbles of Carlyle, the Bunyons.—James Huneker.

All the World Feeds New York.

All the world combines to feed New York. Take the week before Christmas, for example. Every section of this and of foreign countries where things are growing at this time of year seems eager to prevent monotony in the food supply of the great city. There are onions from Spain; big red cherries from Argentina; potatoes, carrots and beans from Bermuda; luscious hot-house grapes and fresh codfish from Belgium; cabbage from Denmark; pineapples from Porto Rico; tomatoes from the Canary Islands and the Bahamas; green vegetables from Cuba; peaches, apricots, plums and pears from Chile; strawberries from Florida and California, and hot-house products from all parts of the United States.

Utility Securities

Before the war, we hadn't the Government Bond buying habit—and habit plays a big part in security sales, just as it does in, say, the clothing business.

The situation, however, is rapidly changing and the public is seeing the advantages of investing in utility securities for the reason that next to Government Bonds, they provide maximum safety.

For example: The issue of 7 per cent Ten Year Guaranteed Bonds we are now offering, is being subscribed for by local investors who appreciate the degree of safety and attractiveness of the investment.

Ended Embryonic Love Affair.

The first girl I ever called to see was entertaining me in the presence of another couple of young folks, when she reached over and pulled what she supposed to be a thread off my vest. She pulled about two yards out before she grasped the fact that she was unraveling my underwear. It was the last of that love affair.—Chicago Journal.

Why "Spinster?"

The term "spinster" applied to an unmarried woman is an actual reference to the spinning wheel. In olden times women were prohibited from marrying until they had spun a full set of bed furnishings; thus before their marriage they spent much time at the spinning wheel, and were, therefore, known as "spinsters."

PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETIC MEET

At Y. M. C. A. Feb. 22—Is For School Trophy and Individual Prizes—Is for Boys of 6th, 7th and 8th Grades.

The fourth annual public school athletic meet will be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, Washington's birthday, February 22.

The schools are to compete for a cup which has been long contested and is now in the possession of School No. 6. The cup was put up for competition in 1919 and has been won by the following schools in their respective order: School 4, School 8 and School 6. The school winning the cup three times, not necessarily in consecutive order, automatically becomes the possessor of the trophy which is a large and beautifully modeled silver loving cup.

Each boy entering the meet, and only those boys who have attained the rank of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades will be allowed to compete, must enter all events, exclusive of the relay potato race and the tug of war. In the relay potato race each school may enter 6 men on day of the meet, and ten men for the tug of war.

The entry of boys' names in full must be made in duplicate on entry sheets provided by the committee and mailed to Roy H. Begg, physical director, Y. M. C. A., to reach him not later than February 15th. Entrance to the gymnasium floor will be through the boys' department entrance at 1 p. m. No boy will be admitted after 1:45 p. m. Space will be provided on the gymnasium floor for each school and when the boys are not competing they are requested to stay in that section. The principals are requested to be early in attendance and check the names of the boys from their schools.

The events this year will be a potato race, standing broad jump, chinning the bar, the relay potato race and the tug of war.

The score for each boy competing will be reckoned in on the scoring points for the team. The school having the highest average score for its team, multiplied by the percentage of the enrollment of the boys, from the grades rating eligibility, has the greater chance of winning. Arrangements have been made so that the time required to run off the meet will be cut to the minimum.

Individual prizes will also be given as an added incentive to stimulate competition and the boy scoring the highest individual number of total points will be awarded a medal. Ribbons will be given boys as first, second and third places in each event. Ribbons will be given the teams coming first, second and third in the relay potato race and in the tug of war ribbons will be given teams winning first and second places. Special prizes in ribbons will be awarded the three boys having the total highest points.

The directing committee consists of A. W. Buley, physical director in the Kingston public schools, R. H. Begg, physical director at the local Y. M. C. A., and C. R. Hall, boys' work secretary at the Y. M. C. A. The school athletic committee is made up of R. H. Van Valkenburgh, J. H. Garrison and F. L. Meghler.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

THE FUNNY JUDGE

You know there is a Judge whose name is Judge Just Praise. He is the one who sends out to creatures to give more praise and not to be afraid of saying kind, nice, encouraging things. He is a splendid chap. A truly splendid chap. For he doesn't want people to be so afraid that others will be conceited that they will keep from saying the fair, justly praising things.

Then there is Judge Fun. Often he is called by his intimate friends the Funny Judge. He wears a white wig and a great black gown and black-rimmed spectacles, for he says he wants to look as though he were Judge Fun. But not only does he wear what I have told you about.

He wears, too, a bright red ribbon to the back his wig, and so that no one will fail to see his pleasant, friendly smile, he has beautiful red and white painted marks from his mouth to his ears.

This is so those who see him from a side-view will know that he is smiling. Every so often Judge Fun admits new creatures into the Court of Humor as it is sometimes called the Court of Fun, and a jury consisting of twelve joking jury men decide with Judge Fun who are to be admitted.

Often people are admitted and are members of the court without knowing it. That happens very, very often. It is just decided in the court that these should belong and so they do. I believe they have an idea that they really belong too, whether they're actually told about it or not.

First of all this day there was a little boy named Eugene. He was allowed in as soon as he had knuckled, for he was always saying very funny things.

Judge Fun had laughed right heartily when little Eugene had said upon being told that there was a court-mand in the zoo.

"Oh, and is there a trouser-Tuesday, too?" Judge Fun had pronounced as he said it. It were comical Monday!

The court-mand, of course, is the friendly laughter.

After little Eugene had been admitted, came Grandfather Frog. He was laughing but still it made the Judge and the jury all chuckle.

"What?" he said. "Boys have always been merely boys! How much I have to be thankful for in my Tadpole nursery."

"Admitted," said the Judge. The jury had all quite agreed for one look at Grandfather Frog was alone enough to allow him to come in.

And then came along the Laughing Sea Gull.

"Of course you come along," said the members of the jury together. And Judge Fun said,

"Of course."

"Well," the Laughing Sea Gull said. "I'm thankful it has happened at last. I've been laughing all these many years hoping Judge Fun would see that I had a sense of humor and should be admitted."

"Of course perhaps I haven't—but what difference does it make so long as I sound funny when I laugh, and laughter is fun."

"Enough to admit you," grinned Judge Fun.

"For years," said the Crocodile, who came along then, "I have been famous for my crocodile tears. No one has ever known why they were not real tears. Now I can tell my secret. I've always been hoping that I could be admitted by the Judge. And with this hope in my crocodile mind my tears could never be real."

The crocodile was admitted.

"I," said a small girl, "have wanted to tell Judge Fun that I was glad that he didn't think I was a funny joke about a child saying she was glad they were going to have company for it meant ice-cream. Children don't make so many foolish remarks as grown-people would make out! Judge Fun knows we're not without manners."

"Of course I know that," said Judge Fun. "But dear me, dear me, so many grown-ups don't realize how many children there are who never say such foolish things."

"And, too, they forget. Poor grown-ups."

Well, animals and birds and little people and all came along that day and they were all admitted for they loved fun and merriment and that was enough to let them along to the Court of Humor and Fun.

GAS BUGGIES—Did you ever know it to fail

THE KITCHEN CABINET

"They are such dear, familiar feet that go along the path with ours—feet fast, or slow. And trying to keep pace; if they mis-take. Or tread upon some flower that we would take. Upon our breast, or bruise some reed. Or crush poor hope until it bleed. We must be mute. Not turning quickly to impute. Grave fault; for they and we. Have such a little way to go—can be. Together such a little while along the way. We will be patient while we may."

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

A tasty dessert, which may be prepared any time during the year, is the following:

Apple Pudding.—Cook fifteen minutes one tablespoonful of tapioca and a pint of milk. Dissolve a tablespoonful of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water. Add one-half cupful of sugar, the yolk of an egg and add to the first mixture. Pour over steamed dried peaches or apricots and one-half of a sliced banana. When cool stir in one-half cupful of whipped cream.

Grapefruit Pudding.—Take one package of lemon jello, dissolved as usual; add one cupful of steamed raisins, one-half cupful of sugar, one cupful of grapefruit, six walnut meats cut fine. Mix all together and mold. Serve with whipped cream.

Rhubarb Pudding.—Take three cups of rhubarb, cut in small pieces; mix with one cupful of sugar. Melt one-third of a cupful of butter and mix with three cupfuls of bread crumbs. Make alternate layers of bread crumbs and fruit—three of bread and two of fruit. Bake one hour. Serve with hard sauce. Take one cupful of powdered sugar, one-third of a cupful of creamed butter and, when well blended, add a teaspoonful of flavoring, using one-third lemon and two-thirds vanilla. Fold in the beaten white of an egg.

Frozen Fruit Salad.—Cut in small bits the fruit from a can each of pineapple, white cherries, pears and peaches. Mix the prepared fruit with the juice from the cans; add two oranges, one-quarter of a grapefruit, cut in bits, two cupfuls of mayonnaise and one pint of whipped cream. Turn into the freezer and freeze, turning the crank slowly. Then pack in brick molds. Serve in slices on lettuce. This will serve 35 persons.

Even So!

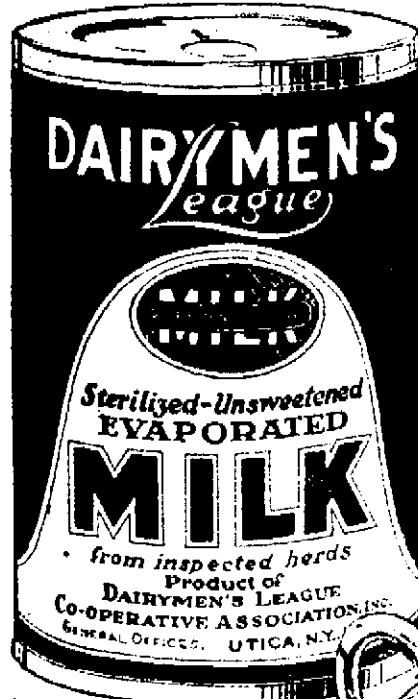

"Mother," said a six-year-old Columbus boy, "what does 'approximately' mean?" The mother explained, and gave several illustrations in order to be sure that the lesson was properly driven home. The boy listened attentively. That he did so was demonstrated a moment later. His older sister was in the room, looking at the clock, as she carefully adjusted the hands of her wrist-watch to the right time, making the usual remarks as to the erratic behavior of wrist-watches in general and her own in particular. "I see, mother," exclaimed the boy, "a wrist-watch keeps time approximately, doesn't it?"—Indianapolis News.

Sleeping Sickness is Catching.

Sudden hysterical laughter is one of the symptoms of sleeping sickness. According to Professors Netter and Sicard who recently addressed the Paris Medical society on the subject. After studying scores of cases of sleeping sickness they have discovered the lethargy is followed by uncontrollable spells of laughter, this suggesting that the bacilli are still active. Some cases of this illness have been succeeded by fits of sobbing, hiccoughs and sighs, but the most typical symptom of the last stages of the malady is incessant hilarity. Inasmuch as the malady is contagious it certainly is safer not to approach anyone who is laughing too heartily.

Census of the Sea.

One authority concludes, in a study of the conditions of life in the sea, that fishing operations as at present conducted, appreciably diminish the stock of fish on the sea bottom. He also regards it as proved that there is a greater productivity of ocean life in high than in low latitudes. To explain this, he presents the suggestion of Putter that animals inhabiting warm waters live faster than those inhabiting cold water, and so consume more food, and since the food supply is everywhere limited, a less numerous population can be maintained in the warmer than in the colder seas.—Washington Star.

Royal Treasure Securely Hidden
There is talk of draining the Wabash and turning it into fertile farm land. If this were done there is just a chance that the treasure of King John might be recovered. For we know it is somewhere in that great sandy expanse of his golden crown, his jewels and his treasure chests. There is another rocky treasure lying hidden in some rocky cavern in the mountains of Wales. It is that of Edward which he hid in the year 326 when fleeing from his victorious Queen Isabella through the wilds of Giamroguish. So securely was it hidden that search made for it was vain.—Lew. P. Ellis.

LOCALS WIN OUT IN SLOW CONTEST

Gilligan Is Big Point Getter And Holds Borgeman to One Field Goal—Celtics Here Thursday.

The Kingston team made a poor showing in their first game of a busy week at the Armory Tuesday evening, but they nosed out a victory from the Mohawk Indians. Score 14 to 13.

Gilligan was the big noise of the evening scoring seven points and holding Borgeman to five points throughout the contest. Schwartz outplayed Lehr, featuring in every play and caging two fields.

Clinton caged two fields and two fairs and Harvey played a good floor game. The rest of the team were not in the game and not up to their standard.

The game was very slow throughout, the first half ending 9 to 5 in Kingston's favor. Dowd, Gilligan and Schwartz started the second half by scoring a field goal each, putting their team in the lead, score 11 to 9. They did not hold this lead for long for Clinton caged a wonderful shot from the floor tying the score with the third quarter remaining. The ball now changed hands several times with the loss of much time and Clinton and Borgeman came out with a basket from the penalty line putting their team in a two point lead. Gilligan was fouled twice and he made good his two chances tying the score 13 all. Clinton made the winning point making good from the fifteen foot mark. With three minutes remaining, Kearney, Lehr, Borgeman and Lehr were given free chances but all failed to score.

Torley was the referee and had very little trouble in handling the struggle. The usual good dancing followed the game, music supplied by Balfe's orchestra. About a thousand fans witnessed the contest and the new bleachers accommodated the crowd very nicely.

The score:

Kingston.
C. Husta, rf.	1	1	3
Borgeman, lf.	1	3	5
Lehr, c.	0	0	0
Harvey, rg.	0	0	0
Clinton, lg.	2	2	6

Totals	5	3	13

Score at half time, Kingston 9; Mohawk 5. Fouls called on Kingston, 18; Mohawk 5. Referee Torley. Time of halves twenty minutes.

One Car Among 100 Whose Value Everyone Knows

A Startling and Significant Fact Which You Instantly Recognize as Being Your Own Conviction

ALMOST any man who seriously asks himself what he thinks about the Hupmobile will find, if he has ever given the matter any attention at all, that he has always held a high opinion of its value.

If he follows the subject a little further in his own mind, he is almost certain to recall that he has expressed this good opinion to others, time and time again.

Whether he has owned a Hupmobile or not, somewhere, somehow, he has gained the positive impression that it is a car among cars.

The Same Thought In Everyone's Mind

Ten minutes spent in this sort of reflection will bring him to some very surprising conclusions.

For instance, he is almost sure to recollect that he has never talked to anyone who did not feel about the Hupmobile as he feels.

If he has traveled extensively, it will be borne in on his memory that wherever he went he found exactly the same conclusions concerning the Hupmobile.

But this is only the beginning of the revelation that awaits him.

If he takes even a hasty

glance at the history of the automobile business, two facts will immediately stand out with startling distinctness.

How Few Stand As High as Hupmobile

One is that millions of motor cars of nearly three hundred makes have been marketed in marvelously short space of time.

The other fact—more, startling and significant by far—is the astonishingly few cars which have built such a solid, enduring reputation as he knows the Hupmobile to enjoy.

Passing in review all of the 100 makes which are still in existence, he will not be able to think of another car in its class of which he—and everyone else—thinks as highly as he does of the Hupmobile.

If he asks himself why this is so, he will find that it is because he has, consciously or unconsciously, recognized in the Hupmobile those very elements of reliability which every man hopes to get when he buys a motor car.

What We Mean By Reliability

That everlasting regularity of performance which every motor car should supply, and

SOME WELL-KNOWN HUPMOBILE TRUTHS

COSTS of operation hold to an exceptionally low level. Maintenance and repair costs almost unbelievably low. Car is particularly free from the need of constant and petty adjustments. On high gear, throttles smoothly to a walking pace; and picks up again, on high gear, instantly and smoothly.

Develops great pulling power on high gear; climbs the average low-gear hill, and pulls through sand and mud, on high gear. A remarkably fine performer when it's new; and the same fine performer when it's old. Recognized cash value or trading value as a used car proportionately higher than the average, in relation to price.

Touring Car, $1250. Roadster, $1250. Roadster-Coupe, $1485. Coupe, $1835. Sedan, $1935. Cord Tires on all models—Prices F. O. B. Detroit. Revenue Tax Extra.

which every one concedes to the Hupmobile.

That everlasting regularity which in the Hupmobile spells the difference between unbroken satisfaction and continuance annoyance.

That uninterrupted regularity which makes the Hupmobile known above and beyond all else as a reliable car to buy. That regularity which the Company began building into the Hupmobile a dozen years ago and has never stopped building into it ever since. That regularity which holds down repair costs and adjustments all the year around—which explains why the first models, and all the succeeding seasons' Hupmobiles, are still rendering heroic service on the road.

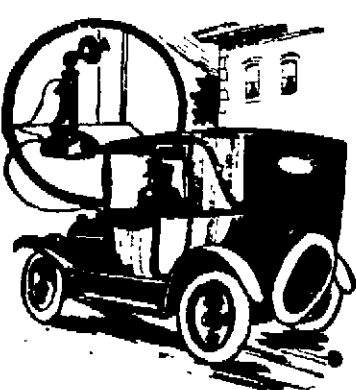

That regularity which comes from a right principle of design adopted at the beginning, persisted in, and steadily developed ever since. That regularity which is peculiar in its field to the Hupmobile—which you are sure of in the Hupmobile, and not sure of somewhere else. That regularity which makes the Hupmobile at $1250, the outstanding value of motor cars today—a value so sure and so certain that the buyer who chooses something less sure and less certain at a lesser price, or at $500 more, almost deserves what he gets!
